ENCLOSURE (1)
PART II

NARRATIVE SUMMARY

During this reporting period enemy movement and activities were light to moderate in the areas of operation of Combined Action Companies 1-1 and 1-2. Combined Action Company 1-3 in Binh Son District experienced a pronounced VC mining campaign with moderate enemy movement. To react, patrolling was increased, along with an added emphasis on the PsyOps activities in the area. Emphasis on the Volunteer Information Program was a strong factor on the high number of VIP and ordnance turn-in incidents, which for this period were thirty-two and thirteen respectively. Most of these incidents involved mines and many of the contacts with the enemy were mine related. Of the one hundred and four contacts, eighty-one were initiated by CAP personnel and twenty-three by the enemy. Of the former, almost half of the contacts resulted in mines being captured while being placed or while being carried by the VC. As a result of all contacts, one hundred and forty one VC/NVA were KIA(2) and nineteen POW's were captured.

An added commitment for 1st CAP during November was to support the Accelerated Pacification Campaign which is aimed at upgrading twenty-two villages from contested status to secure, pro-GVN status.

The CAP S-3 enlarged its PsyOps capability by assigning a PsyOps NCO, and charged him with keeping abreast of the LIFC program. He also was to develop a special PsyOps program to accompany the insertion of new CAPs during the reporting period.

The project to provide adequate living quarters for CAPs was completed by NCB-74 by construction of nine sea huts during the reporting period.

The large number of personnel leaving during the month for MED or special leave resulted in a 34% turnover in personnel. The Group received enough new personnel to offset the losses so that no great problems arose as a result of the high rate of turnover.

During the last week of the month a Summary Sergeant (IWS 2521) joined 1st CAP and was assigned as Communications Chief. This addition should improve the quality of the Group's communications and assist the CAGCs with their communications problems.
PART III

SEQUENTIAL LISTING OF SIGNIFICANT EVENTS

a. Mission. The mission of the 1st Combined Action Group has been tailored to respond to the Communist doctrine of Wars of National Liberation as applied by the VC/NVA in 1st CAG’s areas of operation. This includes (1) destroying the VC infrastructure, (2) protecting assigned villages and friendly infrastructure, and (3) participating in civic action and conducting psychological operations as part of the local effort toward "nation building". An additional commitment during the reporting period was to support the Accelerated Pacification Campaign which began 1 November. Twenty-two villages in the three Districts had been officially listed as "contested areas" and were to be up-graded to a secure status during the ninety-day campaign. In some cases support was offered by relocating the Marines of one CAP to a targeted village and having a new Popular Forces Platoon assigned to them. In most cases the CAP's assisted by extending their activities to help secure a neighboring village which was on the list. If an "ABC" village was not close enough for night patrols, day patrols from the nearest CAP were directed into the area for added protection when Campaign activities needed such support.

b. Combat Operations. Combat operations showed an expected increase in relation to the Accelerated Pacification Campaign. Operations involving more than one CAP platoon increased in order to sweep areas around a village before the Campaign was initiated and publicized there. Propaganda teams accompanying VN officials necessitated extra patrols for secu-

e. New Techniques. As a result of the emphasis on PsyOps during the reporting period a PsyOps "Insertion" plan was developed which, with improvements, will become standard for all insertions of new CA's. Prior to CAP 1-3-2's relocation as a mobile CAP, the area was "prepped" with PsyOps activities which described the Combined Action Program. After insertion, major PsyOps themes were introduced. After a few days, when the CAP had time to observe their targets, more sensitive topics such as anti-VC propaganda could be introduced. By the end of the reporting period the "insertion" plan was organized as listed below.

f. Command Relations. 1st Combined Action Group now consists of nineteen CAPs in three CAAGs and two Mobile Training Teams. During the reporting period two CAPs were relocated, leaving their EF Platoon in charge of the old compounds and being assigned new EF units. On 2 November 1966 CAP 1-3-2 was relocated from BS569918 to be mobile in the area of BS554908. On 10 November 1966 CAP 1-2-4 moved from its compound at BT468900 to the other end of their AO as a mobile CAP in the area of BT345105.

Training and administration of the two Mobile Training Teams are now supervised by the group S-3, while logistical support and tactical employment is handled by the Company Commanders. At this time 1st CAP has a radio shack which monitors all frequencies of subordinate CAPs and keeps the S-3 briefed continuously. However, activities are coordinated only through the District and supporting Battalion Command Centers.

g. Logistics. During November nine Sea Bats were constructed at CAPs completing a project by NBC-74 to provide living quarters at all CAPs. Two vehicles were lost to enemy mines during the month and replacement vehicles have been placed on requisition. A problem area during November was the shortage of batteries, BA-266, for the FAC-25 radio.

h. Training. The training program of the group consisted of both formal and informal instruction. A schedule of formal instruction to be accomplished by the CAPs for both Marines and Popular Forces was published and monitored weekly by the group S-3. Instructions for the Marines were aimed at subjects to fill the particular needs of the group. Weekly training for the CAPs is conducted daily for both the Marines and Popular Forces, subjects reviewed are Map Reading, Mines and Booby-traps, Air support, Artillery Adjustment, Crew served Weapons and leadership. NCO leadership school is conducted bi-weekly at the group headquarters for both Marine squad leaders and their Vietnamese counterparts.

Units completing training at the Mobile Training Teams were two platoons from MTI 1-1 which began on 2 November and graduated on 14 November. The next platoon commenced training on 14 November and graduated on 28 November. MTI 1-2 graduated one platoon on 11 November.

Total Training Hours were as follows:

i. Civic Action. For the month of November 1966, 1st Combined Action Group held a total of 44,155 Medcaps, 41 DentCaps and medevaced 94 Vietnamese civilians. In the distribution of commodities, 1966 lbs of food, 678 lbs of clothing, and 837 lbs of soap were provided to the Vietnamese by the CAPs. One female child received hair-lip surgery. In addition, there was one Physical Education kit, twenty school kits, ten sewing kits, one farmer kit, and three resettlement kits donated to the Vietnamese.

The education effort included 1198 Vietnamese attending 127 hours of English classes and 433 persons receiving vocational training.

Under the project construction program the below listed is a breakdown by CAP.

j. Administration. The 1st Combined Action Group continued to operate on group level administration and experienced no administrative difficulties during the reporting period.

k. Personnel. During the reporting period 50 personnel were transferred and the unit joined 84 personnel, resulting in a 34.5 turnover. The joinees included an increased input of sergeants. Personnel being assigned to the group continues to be of high caliber, all being volunteers, selected by a board and all possessing above average records. Thirteen Marines extended their overseas tour for six months during the reporting period.

Meritorious promotions were presented to four members of the command, all four to Lance Corporal.

Chaplains of both the American Division and Marine Air Group 12 provided weekly religious services even to the most remote CAPs. In addition, Red Cross Representatives visited the CAPs on a regular basis providing playing cards and books for the Marines. One ARVN 1st Lt and four 33gts were attached as interpreters during the reporting period.

Twelve Vietnamese Nho Chanh were serving as Kit Carson Scouts under the program set up by III MAF.

During the week ending 2 November, 20 Marines and 10 FF's of 1st CAG received decorations from the ARVN.

1. Communications. During the last week of the reporting period, a Gunnery Sergeant, MOS 2591, was assigned to 1st CAG as the Communications Chief. The tasks listed below were assigned to the new Comm Chief in order to upgrade the quality of communications within 1st CAG.

1. Acting as chief advisor to the Commanding Officer in all matters pertaining to communications.
2. The promulgation of a revised Group Communication Plan.
3. Operator training.
4. Supervision of the CAG Headquarters radio central.
5. General supervision of all CAG radio networks.
6. Maintenance of all communications-electronics logs and records in accordance with TM 4700-15/1.
7. Issuance of call signs, frequencies and various code tables.
8. Ensuring that proper communication security procedures are being adhered to.
9. Supervision of a preventive maintenance program.
10. Supervision of the supply of all communication equipment to the CAPs.

Provision for levels of maintenance are as follows:

1. 1st Echelon. The CAP is authorized to perform this level of maintenance only. This is performed by the operators on a daily and weekly basis.

ENCLOSURE (1)

DECLASSIFIED

2. 2nd Echelon. This level of Maintenance support is provided by the Communication Section, Supply Company, Foroe Logistical Support Unit Three.

3. 3rd Echelon. This level of support is provided by 1st Foroe Service Regiment, Maintenance Battalion Liaison, Chu Lai, RVN; as part of the Direct exchange of equipment, particularly with the AH-505 (AH/AC-25), is rarely accomplished in less than 30 days, and usually is in the time frame of 30-90 days. In view of this, the Direct Exchange Program is presently inadequate for the needs of 1st CAG.

Frequencies, call signs, and code tables are provided by the Americal Division Signal Office, and are given on both a monthly and as required basis.

M. Intelligence. The main sources of intelligence have been III MIF, Americal Division, and the 198th Light Infantry Brigade, and supporting units around the AO. When the intelligence is received, it is read, screened and digested by the S-2 office, and the Commanding Officer, 1st CAG. The information applicable to the CAP is then given to the Company Commander to be used in his program. The activities of the CAPs are adjusted to comply with recent trends in enemy movement, infiltration and supply. The greatest source of intelligence to the group is still, as in the past, the CAP itself. The intelligence functions are handled by designated personnel at the CAG. The company radio operators are responsible for intelligence functions, but are closely monitored by the Company Gunner School Sergeant. Some CAPs have intelligence NCOs who perform these duties as secondary duties. The squad leader is still responsible for intelligence requirements. All intelligence received by the CAP is sent to the CAG by spot report. All intelligence received by the CAG is sent to CAG and District Headquarters. All intelligence received by CAG is then screened, digested, and sent to supporting units. All intelligence received concerning troop movement in the units AO is plotted on an enemy situation map.

N. Fire Support. Each CAP has artillery support, close air support and helicopter gunships available. Artillery support includes 105MM howitzers, 155MM howitzers and 8 inch howitzers. Helicopter gunships are procured from either of two Aviation Battalions attached to the Americal Division. Close air support comes from MAGs 12 and 13. Navy Swift boats of Coastal Division 12, Chu Lai detachment are able to support CAPs along the beaches with 81MM mortars and 50 Caliber Machineguns fire.

Subj: Relocation and redesignation of Combined Action Platoon 1-2-4

Encl: (1) Proposed AO for Combined Action Platoon 1-2-4

1. It is recommended that Combined Action Platoon 1-2-4 be relocated from its present position (ST463860) to the vicinity of KHUONG PHU (B44512).

2. Combined Action Platoon 1-2-4 is presently occupying a position adjacent to highway 12 in what is now considered a pacified area. In addition to this there are presently two to four Popular Fronts assigned to this Combined Action Platoon. It is felt because of its location and the number of PFs assigned to it that they are now capable of taking over the duties of this Combined Action Platoon.

3. The proposed relocation area is now occupied by an RD platoon that is experiencing difficulty in keeping the Viet Cong out of the area. The proposed relocation would strengthen the RD effort in this area and is concurred in by the Province RD Coordinator, the District Senior Advisor, and tentatively by the District Chief.

4. Presently it is not planned to construct a compound in this area, but rather to utilize the Mobile Combined Action Platoon concept to see if it will work successfully in this area. In addition to the Combined Action Platoon Marines, one platoon of PF's will be provided to insure the security of this area. It is further recommended that Combined Action Platoon 1-2-4 be designated a Mobile Combined Action Platoon if and when the relocation is effected.

1. In accordance with reference (a) and (b), it is recommended that CAP 1-3-2 (RT614016) be moved from its present position to the vicinity of (BS575906).

2. The area in which this CAP is presently located is adjacent to the Chu Lai Air Base and is considered pacified. The Popular Forces Platoon which is presently located with CAP 1-3-2 will remain in position and is capable of providing security for this area.

3. The proposed area of relocation is composed of five hamlets containing 6000 people and is a prime target for RD activity. The location of a CAP in this area would provide adequate security to support the RD effort.

4. The Vietnamese officials desire that this move be made as soon as possible to fit with the schedule of the Province Campaign Plan. 1 November 1968 is the proposed date of relocation. This date is close but is feasible as the CAP is ready to move at this time. If and when the move is made CAP 1-3-2 will operate as a mobile CAP and cover the five hamlet area.
