NARRATIVE SUMMARY

February found 2d Combined Action Group continuing its mission in consonance with the security situation in Quang Nam Province. Five CAPs from Hieu Duc, Dai Loc, Hoa Vang and Dien Ban Districts were relocated as their former areas of operation were being well protected by Popular Forces. Appropriate ceremonies conducted with PayOps support were held in the respective areas of operation.

The month was the highpoint of the enemy's K600 Spring Campaign. Highpoints of activity were experienced during periods of low moon illumination. The enemy did not, however, carry out sustained coordinated attacks. Of note were two NVA killed and one NVA Warrant Officer captured in Hieu Duc District.

Through the cooperation of the Research and Development Officer, First Marine Division, 2d CAG procured (20) XM-202 Multishot Portable Flame Weapons. These weapons have proved very useful in TACOCs that are heavily grown with underbrush and susceptible to booby-trapping.

Seventh Engineer Battalion continued to provide timely support as they constructed a new seashut for the relocation of the S-1 office and started construction of a chain-link fence around the CAG Compound.

The Group Education NCO has continued to provide assistance to CAG personnel desiring to further their education. Since October 26 Marines have taken and passed the General Education Development Test; 86 have taken and completed courses from the Marine Corps Institute; 16 people are currently enrolled in United States Armed Forces Institute.

Distinguished guests during February included Lieutenant General Donn J. ROBERTSON, Commanding General, III Marine Amphibious Force and Brigadier General W.O. JOSLYN, Chief of Staff, III Marine Amphibious Force.

j. Problem Areas: None.

9. Civic Action/Psychological Operations

a. 2d CAG reemphasized Civic Action capabilities and accuracy of reporting in February. In keeping with Vietnamization, Civic Action efforts were directed toward helping Vietnamese make requests for Civic Action thru their own channels. The slow response of Vietnamese to Civic Action requests from civilians has seriously hampered this effort. CAPs concentrated on low cost, high impact projects which can be completed with CAP resources.

b. The G-5 section, First Marine Division made available some funds for 2d CAG use to procure locally available materials. This has contributed considerably to the 2d CAG Civic Action Program, allowing purchase of school supplies, motor oil and cement to fill specific short term needs in CAP areas.

c. During February CAP Marines distributed some 1,400 meals, 148 sewing kits, 10 bags of cement, 16 sheets of tin and large amounts of lumber. CAP Marines distributed 60 lbs. of clothing and 225 lbs. of soap while aiding 2 orphanages, 2 refugee hamlets and taught 81 English classes.

d. The MedCap program continued and is reported under the Medical Section of this report.

e. Psychological operations in February continued to make use of the Marines' face-to-face communication capability. Leaflets in support of CAP relocations, Volunteer Informant Program and Phung Hoang were hand distributed.

f. One quick reaction leaflet mission was flown in reaction to documents captured by CAP 2-7-10.

g. Cultural Drama Teams from Province V13 were used twice, in Hieu Duc and Dien Bien Districts, in support of CAP relocations. An Armed Propaganda Team was employed in Hieu Duc District, but poor coordination with the district and village chiefs severely hampered the teams' successfullness.

11. Intelligence: Enemy contact continued to be light during February. A high point early in the month marked the start of the K-800 campaign. This increase in indirect fire and direct fire incidents tapered off as the percentage of moon illumination increased. Enemy propaganda activity similarly decreased from its pre-TET high. CAPs in the Dien Bien District reported three incidents of VC loudspeaker propaganda.

An increase in activity, particularly indirect fire attacks in Hieu Duc District and Dai Loc District, occurred on the 16th, 17th and 18th of the month. But it appeared that the predicted 2nd phase of the K-800 campaign had failed to materialize. The enemy continued to be moving in small groups and appeared to be foraging.

The CAPs continued to get their most reliable intelligence from local villagers.
